Did You Know Your Child Can Get Free Vaccines?

Vaccines for Children Can Help

The Vaccines for Children (VFC) program provides free vaccines to children who qualify. About half of American children less than 19 years old receive VFC vaccine.

Is my child eligible for the VFC Program?

Children are eligible if it is before their 19th birthday and they:

- · Qualify for Medicaid
- Don't have insurance
- Are American Indian or Alaska Native

Children whose insurance doesn't cover some or all routinely recommended vaccines (underinsured) can still get vaccines through VFC if they go to a Federally Qualified Health Center or Rural Health Clinic.

Where can I go to get my child vaccinated?

- Ask if your child's doctor or nurse is a VFC provider. Nationally, there are thousands of health care providers enrolled in the VFC program.
- If your child does not have a doctor, ask if your local public health department provides vaccines.
- Visit a Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC) or Rural Health Clinic (RHC).

How much will I have to pay?

- All routinely recommended vaccines are free through the VFC Program.
- Doctors can charge fees to give each shot. However, they cannot refuse to vaccinate your child if you are unable to pay these fees.
- The doctor can charge additional fees for the office visit or nonvaccine services such as an eye exam or blood test.

Where can I get more information?

- Ask your child's doctor's office if they participate in VFC.
- If you don't have a regular doctor's office:
 - See if your state has a searchable website for VFC providers.
 - Call your state or local health department.
 - Visit findahealthcenter.hrsa.gov to find a Federally Qualified Health Center.

Do You Have Questions About the COVID-19 Vaccine?

There are a lot of questions about the new COVID-19 vaccine. To help, we have collected a list of the most frequently asked questions from people about to receive the COVID-19 vaccine.

Don't see your question listed? Visit www.phila.gov/covid-19 for more FAQs and updates about the vaccine.

How does the COVID-19 vaccine work?

The COVID-19 vaccine is a medicine that helps your immune system fight the COVID-19 virus. It comes in the form of two injections.

- 1. The first injection primes your immune system, helping it recognize the virus.
- 2. The second injection strengthens your immune response. After receiving both injections, the vaccine will greatly reduce your chances of getting sick.

Are you injecting the virus?

No. The COVID-19 vaccine contains incomplete pieces of the COVID-19 virus. None of the COVID-19 vaccines contain live COVID-19 virus cells.

Is a COVID-19 vaccine necessary?

We strongly recommend getting vaccinated. The vaccine decreases your chances of catching the COVID-19 virus. It also reduces the spread of the virus, and helps keep your family, neighbors, and friends safe.

Has the vaccine been tested?

Yes. The vaccine has been tested in large clinical trials of 43,000 and 30,000 volunteers. It gets approved by an Emergency Use Authorization, and is monitored during trials and after approval and in widespread use.

Can I get COVID-19 after getting vaccinated?

The COVID-19 vaccine greatly reduces your chances of getting sick. But, we won't know how long immunity lasts until we have more data. Please continue wearing a mask and social distancing after receiving the vaccine.

What is the vaccine efficacy rate?

Large clinical trials show the both Pfizer and Moderna vaccine's efficacy rate is approximately 95%.

Can children recieve the vaccine?

No. The current COVID-19 vaccines are only available to those 16 years and older.

Will my medication interact with the vaccine?

No. There are no known drug interactions with the COVID-19 vaccine.

What are the potential side-effects?

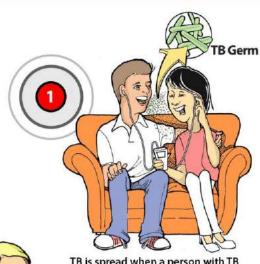

Short-term side effects include a sore arm, headache, fatigue, chills, and fever. These side effects are signals that your immune system is working.

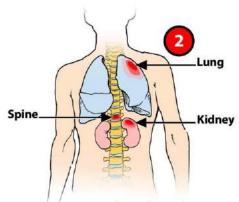

Yes. We must continue to try and stop the spread of the virus. Please continue wearing a mask and social distancing until most people have the vaccine.

TB is spread when a person with TB disease coughs, sings, or speaks and you breathe the air contaminated with TB germs.

The germs reach your lungs. From there, they can go to other parts of your body.

Body Cell

Taking your TB medicine is very important. You need to take the medicine to help get better and to prevent the spread of TB germs to others.

Your body fights the TB germs.

You get TB DISEASE when the TB germs multiply and attack your lungs or other parts of your body. When this happens,

- You have a positive TB skin test or TB blood test.
- You feel sick with cough, fever, weight loss, chest pain, or sweating at night.
- You have active TB germs in your body.
- You may give TB germs to others.
- You may have an abnormal chest x-ray.

You can take medicine to treat LATENT TB INFECTION and prevent getting TB DISEASE.

If your body controls the germs, you have LATENTTB INFECTION. When this happens,

- You may have a positive TB skin test or TB blood test.
- You don't feel sick.
- You don't have TB symptoms.
- You can't give TB germs to others.
- You have a normal chest x-ray.

Preventive treatment for World Health Organization tuberculosis infection

TB preventive treatment can stop infection from turning into active disease.

What is TB infection?

Tuberculosis (TB) is caused by bacteria and spreads through air and can infect anyone. Sometimes, a person gets infected with bacteria but they do not fall ill with TB immediately. In this case, the TB bacteria remain inactive in the body and the person is said to have TB infection. People with TB infection do not show any signs or symptoms of TB.

risk of developing active TB if their

Am Latrisk?

You can be infected with TB bacteria even if you are not ill. In fact, as many as 1 in 4 people in the world are estimated to have TB infection, most of whom are well.

Some people who are infected will go on to develop TB disease.

- are in close contact with a TB patientare living with HIV

Do I need TB preventive treatment?

If you are at risk then your healthcare provider will first rule out active TB disease before assessing if you need TB preventive treatment.

A tuberculin skin test (TST) or interferongamma release assay (IGRA) can be used to identity people with infection.

What are the treatment options?

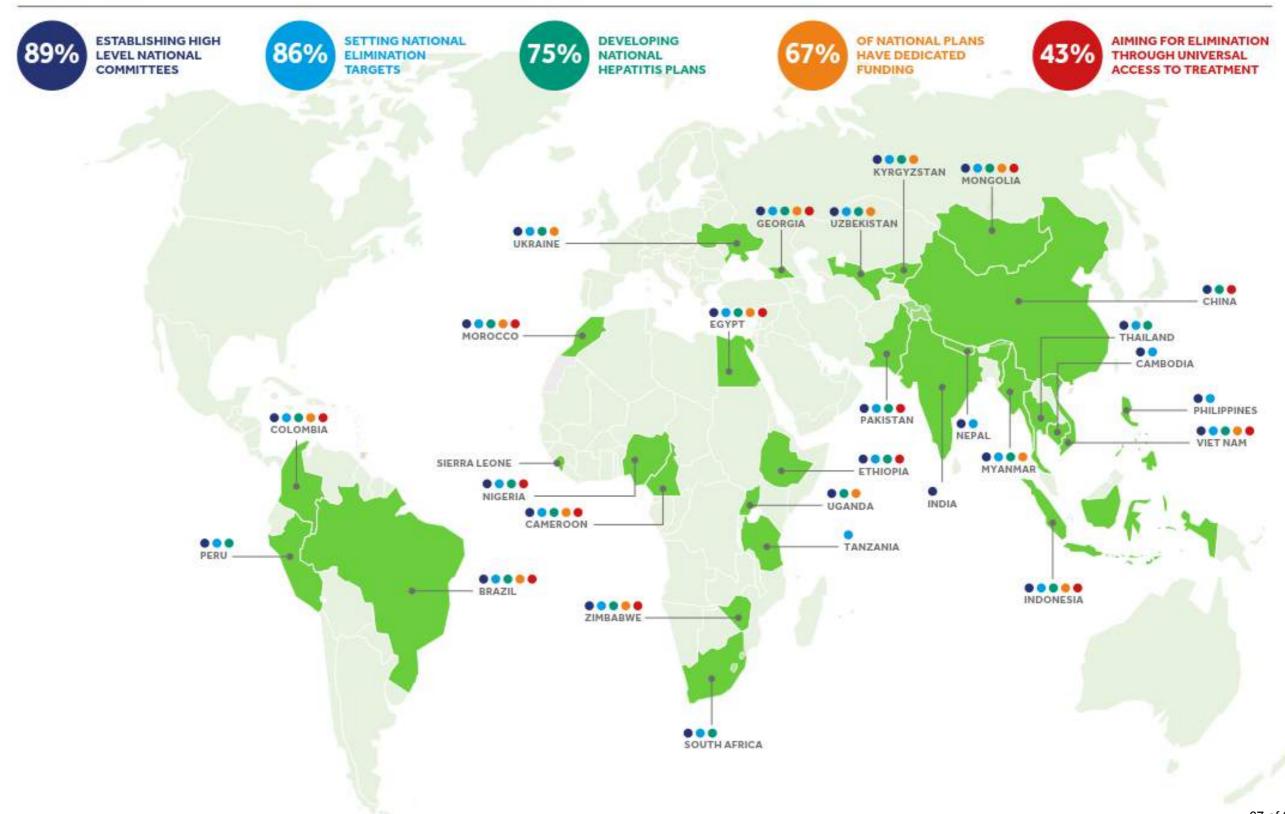

Today, there are many preventive treatment options available. New, shorter treatment options mean that people can be protected from TB for many years with treatment lasting only 1 or 3 months versus more than 6 months in the past.
